

Bretford has earned GREENGUARD Certification for many of its laminate tables, carts and accessories used in commercial business and education facilities. Through this designation and in partnership with facilities managers, designers, architects and resellers, Bretford is helping to create healthier working and learning environments – particularly for children. By specifying or installing Bretford’s GREENGUARD Certified products, institutions are closer to achieving valuable LEED Certification, the nationally accepted benchmark towards the design, construction and operation of green buildings.
